BENJAMIN CHAPIN'S
LINCOLN CYCLE

---

BOYHOOD CYCLE
"My Mother"

"All that I am
Or hope to be
I owe to
My loving mother."

---

From a Mother:

The little boy actors are real boys and Nancy Hanks is ideal. The most "moving" moving pictures I ever saw.

Mrs. Lincoln Wirt.

U. S. Senator:

These pictures should do a great deal of good. Old and young should see them.

Hon. W. L. Jones.

U. S. Commissioner of Education:

"It is good and very good."

BENJAMIN CHAPIN'S LINCOLN CYCLE

It is a wise Boy who chooses a good Mother and Grandfather.

Abe was a very Precocious Boy.

He was a good Chooser.

Things didn't work out as he Chose sometimes.

He didn't Choose to Fight with Huck—

Or to Fall into the Creek—

Or to go to Bed without his Supper.

But he had One Pal.

It was almost worth getting into 'Trouble to have Her help him out.

Then his One Pal was taken away from him.

But she left Treasures.

Those Treasures were worth a great deal to Abe.

BOYHOOD CYCLE
"My Father"

Spare the Rod and Spoil the Child.

Fram a Crank and His Wife:

I am somewhat impatient of certain modern photoplays and I try to be critical, but when, at the close of your pictures, my wife asked me: "Well, what have you found to criticize?" I said: "Nothing at all, but much to praise, indeed." And she said: "That expresses my idea, exactly."

A Clubwoman:

Tremendous value to the individual, to art, and to the nation. Laura Clayton King.

Like most boys, Abe Lincoln had a father.
His father was strict.
His father could not Read.
He wanted Abe to fight.
Abe remembered a Promise not to fight.
He didn't.
He got a Licking.
Abe wanted to Read.
His Father thought that a Waste of Time,
And threw the Books away.
You see—he was a different sort of Father.
Then a neighbor came with a False deed.
Father would have signed it—
But Abe read it.
Then there was a Fight
And—Father thrashed the Neighbor.
