

Nancy Hanks
Lincoln
Public Library

460

PS 2359

M 62 V 4

A Christmas Greeting

Violets

written by

by

Annie C. McQueen

illustrated by

J. Pauline Sunter.

33

Hard & Parsons,
New York.

1888

Violets blue
Violets true,
Daintily sweet,
and all for you.

Violets snug in the green house say,
Do you know aught of the Christmas day?
You who come with the April sun,
And go ere Summer is begun.

So for now shall you weave in a love knot, meet,
To carry my Christmas greeting sweet,
Rare fragrance breathing, go and tell,
My fond thoughts; nought could speak as well.

"Violets snog in the green-house."

Look in her dear eyes
be they blue.

"That they mind you
fond of a lovely
place
Where waters calm reflect your face".

- So go little violets
bearing grace.

Nancy
Hanks
Lincoln
Public Library